Wikipilot

Review of a prototype of the Hanze University Groningen

Content

1. Information about the reviewer and the reviewing process

Reviewer: Prof. Dr. Juliane Benra of the Jade University in Wilhelmshaven Germany

Originally planned reviewing Process:

- Reading prototype description

- Using prototype in different environments: Web, Andriod, iPad

- describing usage and problems of usage of the prototype

2. Review description

- First the description of prototypes was read and the review process planned.

- The Web-Application was planned to be used with the following cases: Showing map and adding new point of interest.

- The iPad-Application was planned to be used with the following case: Showing Points of Interests

- The Android-Application was planned to be used with the following cases: Integration of Social Media

3. Conclusions

- The prototype document was helpful to get an overview of the possibilities of the usage of the prototype.

- The Web-Application: because the application was not available the usage did not take place

- The iPad-Application: because the application was not available the usage did not take place

- The Android-Application: because the application was not available the usage did not take place